

Jeff Duncan currently serves as County Councillor with the County of Wellington and has served three terms as local Councillor on the Town of Erin Council. In addition to sitting on the Central Counties Tourism Board, he is also a member of the County of Wellington's Economic Development Committee, a Board member for the Guelph Enterprise Centre and a past member of the Headwaters Tourism Board and the Village of Erin BIA.

Jeff has had a 25-year career in the private sector land use planning field where he worked for and helped establish a consulting company securing approvals for a vast variety of developments all over south and central Ontario. "I love what our region has to offer from our history, local environment and wonderful people", says Jeff and "tourism development is a key way to showcase our assets for economic prosperity for all of us."
