

Jonathan Wheatle is currently Manager, Strategic Economic Initiatives, for The Regional Municipality of York. For more than 20 years working in both the private and public sector, Jonathan has dedicated himself to supporting small businesses and startups by assisting and guiding them with everything from business plan development and funding applications to international expansion. He holds an MBA in Finance and Marketing from Wilfrid Laurier University and a B.Sc. in Applied Physics and Mathematics from the University of West Indies. When he isn't working to support the business community in York Region, Jonathan spends his time watching science fiction movies and track and field competitions.